HOBOS DECIDES ON ANOTHER ROUTE

Unknown Knight of Road Emerges
Unscathed From 1 of 14 Cars
Derailed on Big Four.

ROLLING CIGARETTE AT TIME

Smashup North of Carthage at Bottom of Grade on Curve Delays Traffic.

Defly rolling a cigarette in one hand and brushing the spots of dust from his tattered suit, a knight of the road lazily climbed off of one of the fourteen overturned cars that were derailed in the wreck of a Big Four freight two miles north of Carthage last night with the rather calm observation—calm under the existing circumstances—that he would take another train for the point north to which he was bound.

The cause for the accident is as yet not ascertained. It is presumed that a brake beam dropped on to the track and derailed the fourteen cars. They were badly smashed up but no human life was lost, nor was anyone even scratched in what is one of the worst smashups that has occurred on a railroad in Rush county in several years.

The wrecking crew arrived at the scene of the accident at twelve-thirty o'clock this morning and began at once to clearing the track so that traffic could be established. By eleven o'clock this morning trains were running as usual. The southbound trains that passes through here about eight o'clock was held at the scene of the wreck until the debris was cleared away, and then ran on through about three hours late.

The smashup occurred on a grade and at a curve in the track where it passes through the Clark Hill farm. The fourteen cars were piled up near the foot of the hill. In view of the fact that the train was going down hill, it is supposed that it was traveling at a rather fast rate of speed which accounts for so many cars being derailed.

There was a story going the rounds in Carthage this morning to the effect that two hobos had caught the train here last night and that they might have been killed in the wreck. No trace of them could be found early this morning which gave rise to the rumor that they had probably been killed. When the wreck had been cleared away, however, no sign of the two unknown men was to be found, and it was thought by the officials that they had jumped from the train before the wreck or else left it before it went through Carthage.

The train was northbound freight number ninety-four. The cars that were derailed were loaded with coal, coke and merchandise. The smash-up caused the contents to be spilled all along the right-of-way for several yards. There was a similar accident on the same hill a few years ago but not so many cars were derailed and not so much damage was done.

In view of the fact that a similar accident happened in the same place it was believed this morning that a broken brake beam might not have been the cause after all. It was argued that it would not be very likely that a brake beam would break in the same place along the road, but that the curve of the track or the grade might have had something to do with the derailment.

It was considered rather remarkable that the engine and coal car was not dragged from the track by the cars which were derailed. Also it was considered fortunate that none of the crew was hurt. Members of the crew were at a loss to understand how that unknown hobo escaped being hurt.

The freight went through Carthage last night at seven-thirty o'clock and the accident happened ten minutes later. The sound of the smashing and splintering of the cars was heard quite a distance and farmers from all over the vicinity north of Carthage were attracted to the scene expecting to find that lives had been lost.

This division of the Big Four has been besieged with misfortune during the last week. It is just a week since Thomas Petty was run down by a Big Four box car near Reynolds & Clifford's factory and injured so badly that his death resulted. Last Saturday the southbound morning passenger had to be sent around through Indianapolis on account of the wrecking of several freight cars near Shirley.

THAT'S ALL BOSH SAYS A. T. MAHIN

Water and Light Superintendent Declares River Water Was Not Used to Prime Pumps.

HE RIDICULES THE STORY

Tale is Started That This Infected
Water and Caused Typhoid Fever.

Because several cases of typhoid fever have developed here in the last month, Rushville people are somewhat concerned and have been casting about for the cause which has given rise to the story that an employe at the city water and light plant primed one of the pumps at one of the wells from which the city water supply comes with river water and thus the city water became infected.

A. T. Mahin, superintendent of the plant, branded this story as preposterous and wholly without foundation. He said that such a thing was impossible much less probable. In the first place, Supt. Mahin declared, there would be no occasion for priming pumps that force the water from the wells because they are all air-lift or electric motor pumps.

There is never any occasion to use water for priming the pumps, Mr. Mahin said, because such an act would not bring the desired result. The air-lift pump works automatically, he pointed out, and as long as there is any electricity in the city wires the electric motors will operate the pumps when turned on.

There has never been any river water in the city mains although an arrangement has been perfected whereby river water can be turned into the mains in case of a big fire. River water is being pumped to be used in the boilers, and a line has been connected with the reservoir so that river water can be thrown into it. The river water has never been diverted into the reservoir because there has never been an occasion for it, but in case such a thing should be done, the reservoir would be thoroughly cleaned after the flow of river water into it was stopped.

There are only four cases of typhoid fever in the city of Rushville at present. None of the patients is said to be in a critical condition and hopes are held out for their recovery. But because of the fact that typhoid fever is such a rare thing in Rushville some comment has been made on the cases, although the number is not as great as most cities of this size have every summer.

Typhoid fever has been an almost unheard of disease here since the city well water system has been installed. There have been very few cases, and only one death in the city for a number of years from this disease.

ROBBERS ENTER RALEIGH STORES

Steal $18 in Money From Bush and Poer Places Some Time
During Night.

NOTHING ELSE IS TAKEN

Raleigh People Suspect Local Talent
Because of Circumstances—Window and Door Pried Open.

Thieves broke into two stores in Raleigh last night and got away with eighteen dollars in money. They apparently were searching for nothing but money as they passed up merchandise that might be converted into dollars.

The two stores entered belonged to Alva Poer and Nathaniel Bush. Twelve dollars in change was procured at Poer's place and six dollars at the Bush place of business. Not even any cigars or candy was missed.

Raleigh people have a cause for believing the thievery is the work of local talent because of circumstances existing now. Alva Poer and family are absent on a visit and this could be known only to Raleigh people. It is thought that the robbers selected this as an ideal time to do the job.

Further proof for the belief that the robbers live in or near Raleigh is found in the fact that Nathaniel Bush is ill and is unable to attend to the business at his store. It has been in charge of a boy for several days.

The robbers gained entrance to the Poer store through the back door by prying it open. The money drawer was broken open, and all of the change left in it over night taken. The slot machine was destroyed by the thieves who had to break it into pieces in order to get the money from it.

The robbers broke into the Bush store through a window. They apparently pried it open with ease. The tools that were used to enter the two places were taken from Ed Jackson's and C. W. Miles' shop.

Raleigh people have no clue on which to ferret out the robbery mystery. They are convinced, however, that some one in the vicinity of Raleigh is guilty of the crime, and they believe that the truth will be found out eventually.

TAKES SOCIALISTS' PLACE

James E. Watson Speaks at Merom
Chautauqua Near Terre Haute.

James E. Watson returned this morning from southern Indiana, where he delivered a lecture at Merom chautauqua Sunday. Mr. Watson spoke in place of Victor Berger of Milwaukee, the only Socialist in congress, who was unable to fill the engagement. There were more than eight thousand single admission tickets sold to the chautauqua Sunday afternoon. The assembly is held on Merom college campus, which is located south of Terre Haute along the river. Mr. Watson will likely go to Vermont the latter part of the week to make a campaign speech on Saturday night.

APPLIES TO NEWSPAPERS

Provisions in Appropriation Bill Require Things of Daily Press.

Many things of general interest to the public were included in the post-office appropriation bill just passed by congress, aside from the Sunday closing of the postoffice and the increase for rural mail carriers. The senate tacked on an amendment to the original house bill, providing that newspapers shall publish semi-annually a list of stockholders. This was adopted as was another provision requiring daily newspapers to print a statement of its average daily circulation.

LOOK FOR GUNMEN! THEY MAY BE HERE

Police Receive Notice to Keep Eyes Peeled For "Lefty Louie" and
"Gyp, the Blood."

WANTED BY NEW YORK POLICE

Local police have been asked to look out for the two notorious gunmen who are charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal in New York a few weeks ago, and who have not yet been captured. Most of those wanted have been placed behind the bars only "Gyp, the Blood," and "Lefty Louie" are still at liberty. Both are young men and both are opium fiends.

A reward of $2,500 each is offered or $5,000 for the arrest of the two. They have always led a life of crime and are to be expected wherever there is a crowd. Street fairs, political meetings, home-comings, or wherever many people are gathered together, there you may expect to find "Gyp, the Blood" and "Lefty Louie." Both have made their living by picking pockets and a liberal and quick use of the gun.

If this city is to be visited by these crooks they will probably select some time when there will be a big crowd here. Then will be your chance to get a fortune without work. But don't expect them to give up too easily they are bad gun men.

LOCAL MEN WILL ATTEND

Rahman, Arlie Munster, Clarence Pries, Ward Bates, Harold Warren, Theodore Saunders, and J. P. Stech. Alternates, A. R. Holden, Pent Jahnting, T. J. Smith, Orrville Collier, W. H. Lines, W. C. Ravenscraft, J. G. Lewis, F. A. Caldwell, W. S. Coleman, Sanford Moore and W. C. Smith.

TO ADD FOUR NEW WELLS TO SYSTEM

City is to Draw on Vein of Water in River Bottoms to Replenish Supply.

THREE WELLS ALREADY DUG

Water Gates Being Installed and Separate Lines Will be Run
Under Race.

"Rushville will have some system for water supply," said A. T. Mahin this afternoon, while superintending the work preparatory to connecting the new wells in the southeastern part of the city to the mains. It is a long and tedious task and from present indications, the water supply will not be enlarged by the new wells for several months to come, as the plan outlined by Supt. Mahin calls for the completion of the well now being dug and the digging of another before the four new wells are attached to the mains.

Two of the four wells are to draw a supply from the vein which is supposed to lie in the bottoms between the mill race and the river have been dug and tested out better than the superintendent ever dreamed they would, the third is almost finished and the work will be started on the fourth one when the one now being dug is completed.

The first well dug in this group is in Julian street, just south of the foot of First street. The second well has been dug across the race about a hundred yards and along the Second street pike leading to East Hill cemetery. The third well, the one which the drillers are working on now, is being dug in the river bottoms between the race and the river southwest of the first well. The fourth well will be dug on a line between the second and third wells.

The plan calls for the installment of water gates at the foot of First street. Then separate mains will be run to each well, the ones connecting the three wells across the race to be run under the race bed. It will be necessary to fit each one of these wells up with a costly pump and they will throw their output, each through a separate main, into the large eight inch main which is now being run from the corner of First and Perkins streets to the foot of First streets, where the water gates will be installed.

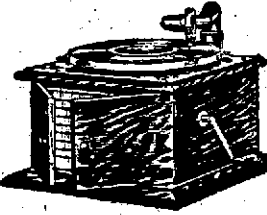

That new eleven hundred dollar pump which is run by a motor was being worked for all it was worth today pumping the water from the first well at the foot of First street. They started the pump at nine o'clock this morning and up until late this afternoon it had continued to throw water at the rate of ninety-four gallons a minute. The water is as cold as ice.

The second well, located south of the race along the Second street pike has already been tested and showed an excellent flow. The drillers have struck water at seventy feet in the third well, and they were making ready this afternoon to test it as the water had risen in the pipe to within five feet of the surface of the earth. Just as soon as this well has been tested, and if it is found satisfactory work will be started on the fourth well on a line between the second and third ones.

It was stated this afternoon that none of the wells would be attached to the mains until the whole system had been completed. It is thought that this will require some time to do the work and lay the three separate lines of pipe under the race bed, which is to be done by the city.

WILLIAM LOEB, JR.

Roosevelt's Former Secretary
Important Prospective Witness.

ROOSEVELT RELEASES LOEB AS A WITNESS

Former President's Secretary
Comes to Fore.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 27.—With the comment, "They are welcome to any letter I have ever written to any human being on any subject," Colonel Roosevelt signified his satisfaction with the Penrose resolution, which the senate passed authorizing the Clapp committee to extend its investigations to include the financing of the Progressive party and the pre-convention campaign expenditures of the 1912 presidential candidates.

"I could thank Archibald and Penrose for what they have done. They have rendered me a real service," he repeated, and there is no mistaking the fact that the colonel views with extreme complacency the turn which affairs have taken.

One of the chief developments in the controversy over campaign funds was the announcement from Colonel Roosevelt that Collector William Loeb, jr., had been authorized by him to testify
on every point that had come under his knowledge during the time he acted as secretary to the former president. Mr. Loeb's memory on many points was better than his own, the colonel said. Together they have covered most of the ground now under review, and have gone through the ex-president's letter files of the period.
As a result Colonel Roosevelt feels strengthened in the position he has taken. He said that he has found letters which may be included in the statement he is preparing for the investigating committee, and which will throw new light on the real relations between himself and the Standard Oil company during his administration.

Mr. Loeb is ready to give direct evidence, according to his old chief, upon every detail connected with the refusal to accept Standard Oil contributions. "And this evidence is not based on hearsay," said the colonel, as he claims is the case with the accusations levelled at him.

62ND CONGRESS
NOW AT AN END

Adjournment Followed By a Speedy Exodus.

STATESMEN LOSE NO TIME

Even Before Final Adjournment Resolution Had Been Put, Many Members Were Headed For Railway Station and Home, Sweet Home, Leaving Far Less Than a Quorum In Either House.

Washington, Aug. 27.—As peacefully and quietly as the tired statesmen on Capitol Hill could make it, the end of the second session of the 62nd congress came at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The desire to shake the hot dust of Washington from their feet finally overcame the belligerency of the four Democratic senators who had been insisting upon appropriations to pay several hoary state claims, and they withdrew their filibuster after expressing their great indignation at the unpatriotic action of the house in pulling the pursestrings so tight. The senate also saw a light on the question of the Penrose resolution providing for a sweeping campaign contributions inquiry and this went through without a dissenting vote.

These were the two features that blocked adjournment early Sunday morning, and after they were out of the way many members from both the house and senate headed for the railroad station without even waiting to see the adjournment resolution through. The exodus from this sunkissed spot continued all night, and by morning only a few straggling members of congress were left in the city.

To say that many members of congress really need the vacation is putting it mildly. After nine months of continuous performance, in which something like 26,000,000 words have been spoken, making more than 13,000
pages of the Congressional Record,
many of the older members of the national legislature, especially the senate, were in a badly run down condition. But Uncle Joe Cannon, who seems to grow younger each session
and who would rather have a legislative fight on the floor of the house than a good meal, jiggered around the corridors as chipper and happy as a schoolboy. Certain recent disclosures in regard to campaign contributions seem to have amused Uncle Joe. He even stopped in the senate and gave Senator La Follette, sworn enemy of the standpatters, a hearty handshake.
A mere ordinary clasp of hands
with La Follette would have been remarked in the senate, but when Uncle Joe covered the Wisconsin senator's paw with both of his own and gave him a regular pump-handle shake,
many of the old line Republicans in the senate stared with open mouths.
Their amazement increased when the statesman from Danville pulled out one of his long black cigars and handed it to the doughty little senator from Wisconsin. La Follette accepted the smoke and later vouched for the statement that it was not loaded.
This hand-shaking business with the old "czar" of the house and La Fol-lette's recent hobnobbing with Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, were two of the most amusing features of the dying session.

The scenes in both the senate and house at the closing were as tame as could be imagined. Only about thirty-five senators were in the chamber, and it would have been impossible to have secured a quorum if anybody had insisted on a point of order on this score.

Society folk in Washington, who usually turn out on the closing day, seemed to have lost interest in the performance and the galleries were only partly filled.

for the session.

AN OFFICIAL INQUIRY INTO CONTRIBUTIONS

Congress Wants to Know About Campaign Funds.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Assured now
is an official inquiry into contributions to Colonel Roosevelt's recent primary campaign and into the charges that have been made in regard to the 1904
Standard Oil payment. The senate, without a dissenting vote, passed the Penrose-Reed resolution authorizing the investigation. This action of the senate, it is acknowledged, opens up a field which may result in startling disclosures not only on the Republican, but the Democratic side of congress. It is the most radical and far-reaching inquiry that has been authorized by the senate. The inquiry will include, of course, the Taft primary campaign and the campaign
made by the Democratic candidates for the presidential nomination. It will disclose the sources of President Taft's recent primary campaign fund and will show where the money came from that financed the Clark and Underwood booms. It may also settle the charges made by "Mars" Henry Watterson about the sources from which Governor Woodrow Wilson
drew his financial assistance.

DEBS ACCEPTS
HIS NOMINATION

Entire Lack of Ceremony of Any Kind.

SIMPLY RELEASED ADDRESS

All the Ceremony There Was Attached
to Formal Acceptance by Socialist
Nominee of Action of Indianapolis
Convention Was Notification Given
to Newspapers of Release of His Acceptance Address.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 27.—In
marked contrast to the notification
ceremonies practiced by other political parties, the Socialist presidential nominee, Eugene V. Debs, accepted
his nomination by simply informing
the newspapers that they were at liberty to print his address of acceptance,
which he had sent them in printed
form. No committee called on Mr.
Debs and there was an entire lack of
ceremony of any kind.

In his acceptance Mr. Debs said:
"We do not plead for votes; the workers give them freely the hour they understand. But we need to destroy
the prejudice that still exists and dispel the darkness that still prevails in the working class world. We need
the clear light of sound education and
the conquering power of economic and
political organization.

"The Socialist party's mission is not
only to destroy capitalist despotism,
but to establish industrial and social democracy. To this end the workers
are steadily organizing and fitting
themselves for the day when they
shall take control of the people's industries and when the right to work
shall be as inviolate as the right to breathe the breath of life.

"Standing as it does for the emancipation of the working class from wage slavery, for the equal rights and
opportunities of all men and all women, for the abolition of child labor and
the conservation of all childhood, for
social self-rule and the equal freedom
of all, the Socialist party is the party
of progress, the party of the future,
and its triumph will signalize the birth
of a new civilization and the dawn of
a happier day for all humanity."

SUICIDE OF LOVERS

Lafayette Man and Girl Carry Out
Pact at Kankakee.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 27.—Ross Morgan, aged twenty-one, and Pearl Mil-
ley, aged twenty-two, committed suicide at
a hotel at Kankakee, Ill., where they
had registered as husband and wife.
The double suicide was the result of
a compact made by the two, who were
deeply in love with one another, although Morgan had a wife and two children, one a few days old, in this city.

Pearl Milley was formerly married
to a man named Black, but had been
using her maiden name since. Several letters were found addressed to different people, among them being
one from the girl to her mother, Mrs.
Henry Milley of this city. She asked
that her body and that of Morgan be buried together, and said that she and Morgan ended their lives because they could not live together as desired.
Morgan's wife last Friday gave birth
to a girl baby and the mother is in a critical condition. She is only eight-
teen years old.

Three Die at Sunday School Picnic.
Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 27.—Three young women were drowned near here while wading in a creek. They are Cora McKay, sixteen years old; Lydia Harvey and Fay Wilkins, each seventeen years old. All were members of a Sunday school class of the local Friends church. Members of the party went wading in the creek. The three girls got into a deep hole and sank.

Car Overturned on Curve.
Valparaiso, Ind., Aug. 27.—Mrs. C.
W. Lutz of Chicago was killed and her daughter Ethel injured near here when on a sharp curve their car was overturned. The occupants, Lutz, Mrs. Lutz, an eight-year-old daughter,
and John Spengler, were caught under the car, and Mrs. Lutz received injuries which caused her death three
hours later.

ENORMOUS LOSS

Caused by Continued Torrential Rains
in England.

London, Aug. 27.—There is no respite
in Great Britain's abnormal deluge,
and it is nearing sensational dimensions. It is figured that the losses to British farmers by the damage to crops and livestock in the month of August is full $35,000,000. Whatever grain it may be possible to reap if the rain ceases must be harvested by hand labor, as it will be impossible to use machinery on the sodden ground.

DEBS ACCEPTS
HIS NOMINATION

Entire Lack of Ceremony of
Any Kind.

SIMPLY RELEASED ADDRESS

All the Ceremony There Was Attached
to Formal Acceptance by Socialist
Nominee of Action of Indianapolis
Convention Was Notification Given
to Newspapers of Release of His Acceptance Address.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 27.—In
marked contrast to the notification
ceremonies practiced by other political parties, the Socialist presidential
nominee, Eugene V. Debs, accepted
his nomination by simply informing
the newspapers that they were at liberty to print his address of acceptance,
which he had sent them in printed
form. No committee called on Mr.
Debs and there was an entire lack of
ceremony of any kind.

In his acceptance Mr. Debs said:
"We do not plead for votes; the workers give them freely the hour they understand. But we need to destroy
the prejudice that still exists and dispel the darkness that still prevails in
the working class world. We need
the clear light of sound education and
the conquering power of economic and
political organization.

"The Socialist party's mission is not
only to destroy capitalist despotism,
but to establish industrial and social
democracy. To this end the workers
are steadily organizing and fitting
themselves for the day when they
shall take control of the people's industries and when the right to work
shall be as inviolate as the right to
breathe the breath of life.

"Standing as it does for the emancipation of the working class from
wage slavery, for the equal rights and
opportunities of all men and all women, for the abolition of child labor and
the conservation of all childhood, for
social self-rule and the equal freedom
of all, the Socialist party is the party
of progress, the party of the future,
and its triumph will signalize the birth
of a new civilization and the dawn of
a happier day for all humanity."

SUICIDE OF LOVERS

Lafayette Man and Girl Carry Out
Pact at Kankakee.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 27.—Ross Morgan, aged twenty-one, and Pearl Mil-
ley, aged twenty-two, committed suicide at
a hotel at Kankakee, Ill., where they
had registered as husband and wife.
The double suicide was the result of
a compact made by the two, who were
deeply in love with one another, although Morgan had a wife and two
children, one a few days old, in this
city.

Pearl Milley was formerly married
to a man named Black, but had been
using her maiden name since. Several letters were found addressed to
different people, among them being
one from the girl to her mother, Mrs.
Henry Milley of this city. She asked
that her body and that of Morgan be
buried together, and said that she and Morgan ended their lives because they
could not live together as desired.
Morgan's wife last Friday gave birth
to a girl baby and the mother is in a critical condition. She is only eight-
teen years old.

ies which caused her death three
hours later.

AGITATION FOR BETTER ROADS

Indiana Waking Up to Need of Improvement.

ANTIQUATED HIGHWAY SYSTEM

To All Intents and Purposes There Has Been No Change in the Plan of Building Roads in This State in the Past Fifty Years, and a General Movement Now is On Foot for Better Things in That Line.

The Indiana Good Roads association, formed a couple of years ago by a convention of delegates selected by the commercial bodies, and appointed by the mayors throughout the state, has been conducting a very active educational campaign, under the direction of its president, Mr. Clarence A. Kenyon.

The Indiana road building system is, to all intents and purposes, the same today that it was fifty years ago, though there are some new provisions, such as the three mile gravel road law, etc. But as a general thing the roads are built by grading and covering with gravel. No attention is paid to the road for a year, and then just at the season when the road is in its best condition new gravel is dumped upon it. Sometimes this is spread and sometimes it is not. Traffic and the weather are permitted to hammer it down. Occasionally some of the more important roads are regraded by running a road scraper over them. The work of road maintenance and repair on the main roads, under county supervision, is paid for in cash out of the general taxes. That upon the township roads is paid for in work. The county roads are looked after by the superintendent appointed by the county commissioners, and the township roads by road supervisors elected by the people. Neither class of men in charge of the roads has, or makes any pretense of having expert, technical knowledge of road building and maintenance. In most cases they are honest men of good common sense, who do the best they can with the amount of money allowed them; but the work pays them very little, and their time is devoted to their own business affairs. Road supervision is merely a side issue, to which they devote attention some two or three weeks of the year. The result of this whole system is roads that are in fairly good shape during the summer season, but are in bad shape during periods of rainy weather.

The Indiana Good Roads association has devoted its attention to agitation among the people for a change in the system of road building and maintenance. Its platform is briefly as follows:

1. The principle of state aid and state supervision of state roads. This means a highway commission and state levy appropriation, as the state should pay a large part of the cost of the building, reconstruction and repair of the main roads of the state.
2. A state levy of one-half mill (5 cents on $1,000 assessed valuation), and
3. A graduated auto and vehicle tax. The proceeds from these two sources to be used on the main roads of the state.
4. The classification of all roads according to traffic, with adequate and efficient construction and maintenance under skilled supervision.
5. Continuous and systematic maintenance, and the elimination of politics from road management.
6. The payment of road taxes in cash. The waste is so great under the present system that economy and efficiency require this.
7. National aid for national highways.

The following is a list of the officers of the association:

President, Clarence A. Kenyon; Secretary, Russel M. Seeds; Treasurer, Hugh Dougherty, all of Indianapolis. Vice Presidents, Chas. W. Fairbanks, Indianapolis; Winfield T. Durbin, Anderson; Aaron Jones, Master State Grange, Ft. Wayne; Joshua Strange, State Farmers' congress, Marion; L. Ert Slack, Franklin; Stephen B. Fleming, Ft. Wayne; Marcus R. Sulser, Madison; Thomas Taggart, French Lick; J. M. Studebaker, South Bend; Carl G. Fisher, Indianapolis; Crawford Fairbanks, Terre Haute; A. H. Beardsley, Elkhart.

The Indiana Good Roads association is non-partisan and non-political. It preaches the gospel of good roads. Better roads for Indiana. The association has no capital stock, and its income is derived from membership fees, and voluntary contributions. The association is not interested directly or indirectly, in road machinery, road material, or active road contracting. Its officers are required to make written reports at regular intervals, accounting for every dollar received and expended, and stating in definite and concise terms exactly how they have discharged the trust imposed in them. Its records are open for inspection.

Its officers invite and request suggestions from any one who may desire better road conditions in Indiana. The personnel of its officers and executive committee is a guarantee that the movement is purely a public one, and that it will be continued in a steady manner.

The Indiana Good Roads association is a guarantee that the movement is purely a public one, and that it will be continued in a steady manner.

Mooted Points In Registration Law Interpreted by Committee

The new interpretation of the registration law and the corrupt practice act as made by agreement of both Democratic and Republican state chairman should die or resign or Marshall covers the following points:

If a clerk appointed by the county chairman should die or resign or remove from the precinct the chairman has the power to name his successor provided he does it ten days before the May session, but if he fails the inspector shall appoint the clerk.

A relative of a candidate may serve as a registration official.

If two extra days are to be kept at the September session the last day shall be on Monday instead of Sunday.

A foreigner may register if he expects to be qualified to vote at the general election in November, whether or not he is qualified at the time of registration.

No clerk has a right to refuse an applicant for registration.

A person who is not able to write any language may procure some resident of the township to write his name for him, after the applicant has made his mark, and the person who writes the applicant's name must also sign his own name as an attesting witness. He need not be acquainted with the qualifications of the applicant.

Both clerks should sign their initials to each application.

The mere fact that a son does not know the place and time of his father's naturalization does not disqualify him from registering, but it might be a serious impediment if such person is challenged when he tries to vote.

The chairman of a political committee may act as its treasurer. A member of a political committee may receive a contribution for political purposes, but he must turn it over to the treasurer without deducting any amount from it. A member of a committee other than a treasurer has not right to disburse funds.

A treasurer may pay for newspapers containing political articles and to send such papers to voters; also to furnish plate matter and copy for newspapers, providing it is marked as an advertisement when published for pay.

Registration blanks can be printed on either white or colored paper.

The treasurer of a state central committee may appoint sub-treasurers and the state central committee may pay the proper and necessary expenses of said sub-treasurer, but not give him a salary or commission for collecting contributions.

It is not necessary for a foreign born applicant to give the exact date of his naturalization or of his declaration of intention, but he should give it as nearly as he can.

Germs Not Annihilated in Making Carbonated Drinks

The summer days bring with them both the joys and the dangers of the heated season. Among the special requisites of the warm weather are the carbonated beverages, with "soda-water" in its various manifestations as a most conspicuous type. To a very large class of our population these non-alcoholic drinks appeal so strongly as refreshing in innocuous forms of fluid in take that their purity and harmlessness ought to be adequately safeguarded. In respect to the presence of preservatives, artificial coloring matter, saccharin and similar sophistications, the "summer beverages" have been subjected to a careful control by the various authorities entrusted with the enforcement of the food laws. But there appears to be a current misapprehension, according to The Journal of the American Medical Association, in respect to their bacteriologic features which need to be corrected.

There is said to be a tradition among bottlers of carbonated soft drinks, founded, as far as can be learned, on very meager experimental data, that the conditions under which these beverages are prepared are destructive to bacteria. There has likewise been an unwarranted inference to the bacterial contamination of many bottled waters, whose sparkling appearance and attractive labels have commended them without regard for the possibility of danger lurking within. The basis for the assumed safety of the carbonated waters presumably rests on the statements that carbon dioxide under pressure is highly destructive to germs. This question has been investigated with respect to two well-known disease germs. The investigation of Young and Sherwood at the Kansas University Water Laboratories show that although there was a marked reduction in the number of germs introduced into both carbonated and uncarbonated waters with syrup, they were not all killed. They state that inasmuch as only "the most hardy individuals can resist these adverse conditions for a considerable length of time, the logical conclusion is that no water should be used in the manufacture of a carbonated drink that is in the east suspicious, and if a doubtful water is the only source of supply this should be subjected to treatment by some method of sterilization with subsequent filtration through a trustworthy and efficient filter."

Baby's Clothes Must be Soft and Snowy White

The greatest joy of the careful, painstaking and proud mother is to see her baby's clothes soft and clean and snowy white.

Ordinary soap often leaves them yellow or streaky and lacking that much to be desired freshness and sweetness. Then again there is always that "bugbear" of dainty clothes being rotted and burned out by strong chemicals and "dirt starters." All these difficulties are eliminated by the use of

Eye Troubles

Brief spells of dizziness, pain in the brow and temples come from eye strain. Glasses correctly fitted—perhaps just to wear while reading, studying, sewing or other close work may be all that's required for permanent relief.

Taken in time the constant wearing of glasses is avoided. Delay means serious eye trouble later on, expensive and painful operation or the loss of vision.

lieve, as all far-seeing men must, that the well-being, indeed the very existence of the republic depends upon that spirit of orderly liberty under the law which is as incompatible with mob violence as with any form of despotism. Of course mob violence is simply one form of anarchy, and anarchy is now, as it always has been, the handmaiden and forerunner of tyranny.

"I feel that you have not only reflected honor upon the State which for its good fortune has you as its chief executive, but upon the whole nation. It is incumbent upon every man throughout this country not only to hold up your hands in the course in which you have been following, but to show his realization that the matter is of vital concern to us all."

Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, on his return from his world trip says he will support Woodrow Wilson.

"I am not a protectionist, never was and never will be," he said. "Therefore I couldn't support the Taft platform very well."

That is frank and honest, and just what any one would expect a free trade college professor to say and do. But how about the American workmen and the American farmers who are protectionists?

If millions of men were out of work and seeking employment today, the administration would be held responsible for it. It is a poor rule that won't work the other way also.

Frederick Landis told the Bull Moose national convention that Roosevelt would carry the State of Indiana by 30,000. But Indiana wasn't the State Fred must have been in when he made that prediction.

It is not the soldiers who leave the army who win the battles, but those who stay and fight. The country has seen several notable slumps from the Republican party, the Greeley Republicans in 1872, the free silver Republicans who went with Teller in 1896 and now the Roosevelt Republicans.

Some people are so prejudiced about the Tennessee coal and iron transaction that they consider Armageddon another Gary, Ind.—Ohio State Journal.

And well might they do so because Roosevelt's allusion to the Armageddon of Revelations is very far-fetched.

The people are going to get rid of bossism to a great degree, but never by substituting one boss for another.

The adroitness of Governor Wilson in declining to bind himself to any specific thing ought to please the politicians in the party even if it pleases no one else.

If we were brazen enough to assume the position of Ruler of the Universe, we might pass similar judgment on the Sun.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

ROBBING THE HYMN BOOKS

(Marion Chronicle.)

It is evident that an effort will be made to give the third term candidacy the atmosphere of a religious crusade. As a political stage manager of unapproachable skill Colonel Roosevelt has used most of the devices guaranteed to produce emotion, but it is doubtful if his raid of the sanctuaries to secure new means of making the people take seriously the efforts of himself and his retainers to break back into office will awaken as much enthusiasm as it does resentment. At his New England meetings the Roosevelt crowds, under the direction of carefully scattered hymn leaders, sang "Onward Christian Soldiers" and other religious songs dear to the hearts of millions through their religious associations, but which the "Thou Shalt Not Steal" contingent would appropriate bodily for political purposes. If the colonel's campaign managers insist on stealing the tunes from the hymnals, they should at least let the words alone. New lines appropriate to the occasion may easily be composed. For instance, if these people must sing "Onward Christian Soldiers," the words ought to run something like this:

"Onward Roosevelt soldiers,
Led by Boss Bill Finn,
Harvester and Steel trust,
And Beveridge filled with gin.
Perkins has the boodle,
McCormick has the dough;
Third term in his noodle,
Teddy bids us go;
Onward Roosevelt soldiers,
Led by Boss Bill Flynn,
Landis, Lee and Stillwell,
What a gang we're in!"

Mrs. Lola Love, wife of Wiley Love, a farmer living near Covena, Ga., says: "I have taken Foley Kidney Pills and find them to be all you claim for them. They gave me almost instant relief when my kidneys were sluggish and inactive. I can cheerfully recommend them to all sufferers from kidney troubles." F. B. Johnson & Co.

NICARAGUA IN A SERIOUS STRAIT

She Is to Be Made a Latin American Object Lesson.
UNCLE SAM MEANS BUSINESS

This Government Feels That Nothing but the Most Drastic Measures Down There Can Prevent United States From a Great Loss of Influence and Prestige in That Quarter of the Globe.
Washington, Aug. 27.—This government expects to take such vigorous steps in Nicaragua, with the arrival in that country of the extensive reinforcements now on the way thither from the United States, as will prove a salutary lesson not only to the revolutionists of Nicaragua, but to the neighboring republics of Central America as well.
The Nicaraguan revolt is regarded with such seriousness here that it is believed it marks a crisis in the policy and prestige of the United States. Nothing but the most drastic measures, it is now considered, can prevent the United States from a great loss of influence in Latin America. Information has reached here indicating that General Mena attempted to overthrow the government largely because he was persuaded that the United States was bluffing and did not mean business in regard to its insistence upon the preservation of peace in Nicaragua and respect for the pledges of the Dawson convention requiring an open election of the successor of President Diaz. The arrival of the cruisers California, Colorado, Denver and Cleveland with their marines, and the other marines now on their way from Philadelphia, will be the occasion, according to present plans, of convincing proof that United States Minister Weitzel has not been bluffing in Nicaragua.
The first step expected is the re-establishment of communication in Nicaragua, both railway and telegraph. The rebels have succeeded in holding up railroad communication between Managua and Corinto, the principal Pacific port of Nicaragua. The telegraphic communications are so seriously broken up that Minister Weitzel has been for days at a time unable to communicate with Washington, and some of his dispatches have never reached the state department. One message has just been received at the state department dated July 29, which the rebels had succeeded in holding up. This message, if it had been received in due order, would have been the first news of the impending revolt, as it told of General Mena's attempt to replace the capital garrison with his own men in his home town.
The Corinto-Managua railroad, which also extends to Granada, held by the rebels, will be opened by the American forces. The line is an American railroad and its operation is absolutely essential for the safety of Americans and other foreigners. With the opening of this railroad and the presence of the American marines and bluejackets in the country in overwhelming forces, it is believed the present leaders of the revolt will think better of their plans to seize the government and will take the first opportunity to quit.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 27.—While Mrs. Juanita Roubush of Lapel was absent from home about two weeks, following the death of her husband, unknown people forced an entrance to the house and ruined the household goods. Carbolic acid and red and black ink were sprinkled over carpets, clothing and bedding. Flour and groceries were scattered over the house, furniture was broken, books in the library were torn, a telephone was torn from the wall and several small articles of jewelry and a child's savings bank was stolen. Some of the missing property was found in a lumber yard.

The action of the court seems to be commended by the general public.

The First Climbers.
A Munich paper has been searching the records of history to discover who were the first mountain climbers. It gives the palm to Moses and his ascent of Mount Sinai, and rules out Noah for his ascent of Mount Ararat because he made it in a boat. There is sufficient evidence to show that the ancients thought mountain climbing sheer madness.

No one in the time of Horace or Polybius wanted to go climbing for a summer holiday. A Chinese emperor in the seventh century was the first to make climbing fashionable in the east. But the first true tourists in Europe seem to have been Dante, Petrarch and Leonard. Then came the Emperor Maximilian I, who used to hunt in the mountains near Innsbruck, and after him Conrad von Gesner and Josias Simler explored the Swiss mountains. But climbing for pleasure such as we know it today was not thought of until quite recently.—Westminster Gazette.

Modern Mariana.
"A hundred years ago, marriage was for an intelligent woman a necessary entrance into life, a legitimate method of carrying out her ideas and her aims. Today she tries to carry them out whether she be married or not. Mariana no longer waits tearfully in the Moated Grange. She leaves it as quickly as possible for some more healthful habitation, and a more engaging pursuit."
"No bachelor ever wants to act like a married man, because he doesn't mean to ever become a married man. The last thing that a bachelor ever intends in getting married is to become like other married men."—Anne Warner, in "Just Between Them-selves."

Soap Known to the Ancients.
Soap in the form of vegetable ashes mixed with grease appears to have been greatly in vogue among the Egyptians in ancient days, and that the mineral alkali made by that people in the time of Pliny was composed of the ashes of plants seems pretty certain. A similar alkali was used by the Hebrews, and when the prophet Jeremiah said "Though thou wash thee with niter and take thee much soap (borth)," the latter material was probably the "borak" of the Arabs of the present day, which is procured from the ashes of the salt-worts of the desert and other plants containing saponine. Some species of the fig marigold are called by these people "the washing herbs," and contain the same cleansing property.

Slanderous Story.
An elderly woman in the recent suffrage parade in New York became greatly fatigued in the last mile or so of the journey. Turning to one of her marching comrades, she wailed: "Hurry, I just can't take another step. I'm worn out. If I have to go a block more I'll die." "Don't despair, my dear," was her friend's pious exhortation. "Pray to the Lord for strength. She will help you."—Philadelphia Record.

VI.—The Construction and Maintenance of Earth Roads.
By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department of Agriculture.
Copyright by American Press Association, 1912.

THERE are about 2,000,000 miles of earth roads in the United States, not including the roads in Alaska and our island possessions. In other words, we have enough earth roads in this country to reach around the earth at the equator eighty times, and, what is more, a very large percentage of these roads will remain as earth roads for a long time to come.
Our earth roads cannot be made to take the place of gravel or macadam, but with proper construction and adequate maintenance they can be greatly improved, and this can be accomplished without any considerable outlay of money. Good earth roads are within the financial means of nearly every community in the country.

The opinion is quite general throughout the country that it is useless to try to do anything to improve our earth roads. This is a mistaken idea. In fact, a good earth road is the stepping stone to a macadam road. The earth road is the foundation for all future improvements. With proper plans for the future the earth road can be constructed at once. A comparatively small annual outlay for maintenance will then serve to keep it in shape until funds are available for further improvement with a hard surface.

One of the most frequent faults with our present earth roads is that they are located where they should not be. Grades are too often unnecessarily steep, drainage is poor or entirely lacking and streams are seldom crossed at the most favorable bridge site.
To relocate these roads entirely or even to a large extent is out of the question. The general location of the present roads must be maintained because of the farm improvements which have been made along them. But wonderful improvements can be made by modifying the location of short sections here and there. Instead of going over a steep hill it is often feasible to go around it on a much easier grade without materially increasing the distance.

The elimination of one or two steep hills on a line of road will frequently enable horses to draw three or four times as much to market as they could draw on the old road. It takes approximately four times as much power to draw loads on 10 per cent grades as on a level.
The earth road should have at least six hours of sunshine each day. Brush and trees which impede the drying action of the sun should be removed. The southern and western exposures should be as complete as possible. With gravel and macadam roads this is not so necessary, as a certain amount of moisture is needed to keep down the dust.

But comparatively few of our earth roads have been dignified by any improvement which could be termed construction. To expect a good earth road where none has ever been built is like expecting a harvest from ground which has never been tilled. An earth road must be built, just as a macadam or gravel road must be built, and skill and experience are required in order to secure the best results.

The first and last requisite in road construction is drainage. This, of course, must be modified to suit the conditions of soil and climate. Where the soil is heavy and retentive care must be taken to get rid of the water quickly and completely. For this purpose the roadway must be raised eighteen to thirty inches above the side ditches and well crowned, so that the water will flow freely to the side ditches. The side ditch should be of ample size and provided with sufficient fall to properly care for the heaviest rains. Ordinarily the only ditches needed are those made with a road scraper, which are wide and comparatively shallow.
Culverts of sufficient capacity should be provided at low places or for natural watercourses. Wood and iron culverts do not, as a general rule,

The state highway engineer should be empowered to appoint all of his assistants after proper examination and with the advice and consent of the commission, to receive all bids and to award contracts, to supervise the work of construction and maintenance, and, in fact, he should be given full authority in all executive work of the department. The state highway engineer should prepare a map of such of the main highways of the state as should most properly constitute a system of state or trunk line roads to be improved either in part or wholly by the state. State road improvement should be carried forward with the ultimate idea of developing a continuous system of trunk lines running throughout the state and connecting, if possible, with similar trunk line roads in adjacent states and with the necessary lateral roads in each county.

The state highway engineer should be given authority to call on county or township road officials for information concerning the roads under their supervision, and it should be made mandatory on such officials to furnish such information upon request. This is very desirable, as it is necessary for the state highway department to keep posted as to conditions existing in different counties.

In most of the state aid laws the initiative in obtaining state aid rests with the county or township authorities. This is a wise provision, because, in the first place, the local authorities are in better position to know what roads it will be to the greatest advantage of the county or township to improve, and, in the second place, they are best able to determine the extent of the county's ability to share in the expense of such an improvement. Another consideration of great importance in this connection is that if the initiative were to rest entirely with the state there would be a certainty of conflict of authority between the state and the counties, resulting in the ultimate failure of the state aid plan.

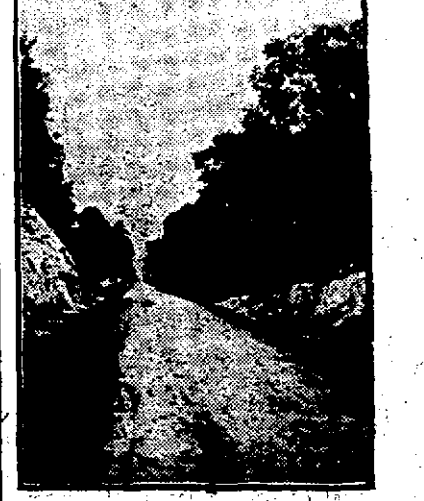

The only case in which the roads can be built by the state without the full and hearty co-operation of the counties or townships is where the state pays the entire cost of building and maintaining the roads. Most of the laws provide that state aid shall not be granted until the application of the local authorities has been approved by the state engineer, which enables the engineer to exercise a sort of supervisory power over the selection of the roads to be improved, to the end that the various roads throughout the state shall conform to a general system.

All surveys, plans, specifications and estimates for state roads and bridges should be made by the state highway engineer's office, thus insuring uniformity and a high degree of excellence. All improvements to cost over, say, $2,000 should be let to contract, as it has been found that this means economy both in time and money and with proper supervision will usually give better results than could be obtained otherwise.

Some of the states provide that the whole cost shall be paid in the first instance by the state, the counties or townships being required to reimburse the state for their share at a fixed time after the road is improved.

Bridges and culverts should be considered as a part of the road and the state should aid in their construction within proper limitations in the same manner as for the road itself. When the work is let to contract the contractor must of necessity advance money in the performance of his contract and is therefore entitled to receive partial payments thereon as the same progresses, but not over 85 per cent of the contract price of the work should be paid in advance of its full completion and acceptance.

The state highway engineer should be required to keep all roads built by the aid of the state in proper repair, the total cost of such repairs to be paid by the state, the counties and townships to reimburse the state in the same manner as for the construction of the road. The reason for this is that road maintenance is of as great or even greater importance than road construction, and the best roads if neglected soon go to ruin.

It is utterly useless to establish a state highway system without at the same time providing an adequate source of revenue. Unless there is a surplus in the treasury for this purpose a special tax should be levied or a state bond issue should be authorized. On the theory that automobiles are destructive to improved roads most of the state aid states provide that the proceeds of automobile license over and above the expense connected with issuing such licenses be applied to the state highway fund and used for the purpose of constructing and maintaining the roads.

CONVENTION IS ON THIS WEEK

Several Members of Rushville Chapter of Kappa Alpha Phi Fraternity Will Attend.

WILL BE HELD IN ALEXANDRIA

Carl Gunning of This City is Candidate For National Secretary— Begins Tomorrow.

With only a day intervening until the opening of the Kappa Alpha Phi national convention at Alexandria, things are in a fine shape for one of the finest meetings ever held. For the past few months the Alexandria Kappas have been making extensive and elaborate preparations for the big "doings" and every one is assured one big time. On August 28, 29, and 30, Alexandria will be the mecca for Kappas from all over Indiana and surrounding States, and between 400 and 500 visitors are expected to attend.

Several members from the local chapter, in addition to the delegates to the convention, are planning to go to Alexandria for the convention and take part in the festivities and business sessions.

Special interest is attached to the convention here because Carl Gunning of the Rushville chapter is a candidate for national secretary. The Rushville chapter desires to make as good a showing as possible and boost his candidacy. There is every reason to believe that he will be elected. He has the assurance of the support of many of the chapters in this part of Indiana.

Among the special features to be enjoyed is Benson's orchestra from Chicago, famous all over central United States for their splendid dance music. It will play for the "big hop." The principal addresses of the evening of the banquet will be delivered by Mayor Lew Shank of Indianapolis and Mayor Edwards of Alexandria.

Postcards have been sent to all the Kappas giving the program for the three days which is as follows:

Wednesday morning, August 28—Registration.

Wednesday afternoon — Business session. City hall.

Wednesday evening — Convention reception, followed by "smoker" at K. of P. armory.

Thursday morning—Business session. City hall. Welcome address, Mayor James H. Edwards. Social morning.

Thursday afternoon — Business session. City hall. Indoor baseball game at 3 o'clock.

BRIBE TRIAL POSTPONED

Inferred State Has New Card in the Greensburg Case.

The trial of Albert Fisher of Greensburg, charged with having attempted to bribe a venireman in the trial of Zack Price at Greensburg, which was set for hearing in a justice of the peace court yesterday, was postponed for a week. In demanding a continuance the State's attorney told the squire it had a witness serving on the Price jury now. This has led to the belief in Greensburg that the State has another card up its sleeve that it had not yet turned to the light of day. After the arrest of Fisher it was argued that the case would resolve itself into a question of veracity between Fisher and the venireman.

PRICE TRIAL IS NEARING THE END

Expected That Evidence in Second Hearing Would be Concluded This Afternoon.

DEFENDANT REPEATS STORY

No Material Difference in His Testimony This Time—Tells of Cook's Threats.

The second trial of Zackariah Price is drawing to a close at Greensburg. It was expected that the evidence would be concluded by this afternoon and that preparations would be made at once for the pleading. The chief interest attached to the hearing yesterday was the story of the defendant which did not differ from the one told during the first trial.

At 11:30 o'clock Monday Price took the stand in his own defense. He again related his condition of health, that six years ago he was sick for nine months with typhoid fever and had never been strong since that time. He then told of renting Cook the ground for one-third grain rent, reserving one pasture and woodland. He then told of going to a sale and buying household goods for Cook and started to relate a conversation with Cook at the spring, when Cook told him about running a moonshine still, but the State objected and the jury was taken from the room while it was argued. The court sustained the objection.

Price finished his direct testimony at 3 o'clock and was then put on cross examination. His story was practically the same that he told the jury in his previous hearing.

The defense will have one, and possibly two witnesses to put on the stand after this and the probability was that the case would reach the point for pleadings about noon. Character witnesses being eliminated. Attorneys on either side have decided to take three hours for presentation of their arguments.

Price declared that he had been warned against Cook by his neighbor, Galion, whom he met one day on the station platform at Butlerville. He said that Galion told him that Cook was a bad man and he would have to be careful.

Some time before the meeting of Price and Galion, Price had had some trouble with Cook over a field of corn. Cook declined to cut the corn and later, according to the testimony told Galion that he would cut Price's corn with a corn knife. This threat was communicated to Price by Galion.

Price retold the story of the corn Cook stored in the parlor room of the house. Price asked him to remove the corn to the granary as the rats were gnawing holes in the floor. Cook is said to have told Price that the house was his and he would keep the corn there if he so wished.

At another time Cook penned up his hogs in a box stall in the barn, having first taken out the floor so they could root into the ground. Price asked him to remove the swine to the hog house and he became angry and said he would do as he pleased.

TO DEMAND THAT BRISTOR RESIGN

Marion County Republican Chairman Will Ask Man Well Known Here to Leave Ticket.

CANDIDATE FOR LEGISLATURE

Wallace is Informed Bristor is Bull Moose—Nominated in Republican Primary.

"The resignation of Albert B. Bristor, an attorney, as a Republican candidate for representative in the Indiana general assembly from Marion county, is desired by County Chairman Harry R. Wallace. The demand is on the ground that he is a Bull Moose and is not a Republican," according to this afternoon's edition of the Indianapolis News.

Mr. Bristor married Miss Lenore Wooden, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Wooden last June, and it was just previous to his wedding that he was named as one of the eight Republican candidates for Representative from Marion county in the Republican primary. The News continues:

Mr. Wallace sent word to Mr. Bristor to call at his office yesterday on "important business," when he intended to advise Mr. Bristor to submit his resignation. Mr. Bristor did not arrive at Mr. Wallace's office at the appointed time, and the county chairman then announced that he would demand his resignation.

"The Republican organization wants no candidate on its ticket who is not a Republican through and through," said Mr. Wallace. "I have been hearing reports concerning Mr. Bristor for some time and have received absolutely reliable information that he is for Roosevelt and Beveridge. The party organization will not stand for anything like that."

Mr. Wallace said that he felt that the investigation concerning Mr. Bristor's sentiments were thorough. It has been understood that Mr. Bristor was on the point of beginning active work on behalf of the Bull Moose ticket.

Mr. Bristor, the Republican leaders say, is the only county candidate the Bull Moosers have been able to influence.

Much activity is being shown at the Republican county headquarters and Chairman Wallace is devoting much time to organization work. The speaking campaign in the county probably will not begin until October first.

APPEALS TO OLD SOLDIERS

30 of 31 Measures Introduced by Gray For Private Pensions.

Thirty of the thirty-one measures introduced by Representative Finly Gray of this district during the session of congress just closed were private pension bills. These included a special house resolution providing that $3200 be appropriated as a pension to Mrs. Grace Jackson, widow of Stokes Jackson. This resolution was passed by the house. The only piece of general legislation attempted by Congressman Gray had to do with pensions as well. Many interpret this to mean that Gray means to pave a second election via the old soldiers.
